12th IUCNAEL COLLOQUIUM 2014 HOSTED BY UNIVERSITAT ROVIRA I VIRGILI

WELCOME MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARIAT OF THE IUCN ACADEMY OF ENVIRONMENTAL LAW

Welcome to the twelfth annual colloquium of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law. We look forward to greeting familiar participants and to meeting delegates who are attending for the first time. The Academy, as you know, is an international network of environmental law faculties and research centres, now extending across some 56 countries from all regions of the world.

Representatives of member institutions are encouraged to attend the Annual Meeting on Thursday, July 3 at 5pm in Aula Magna where a full report on the past year's activities will be presented. For those of you whose institutions have not yet joined the Academy, membership information is available at one of the display stands in Sala de Junes.

It is a pleasure to welcome Ben Booth of Edgar Elgar Publishing and we urge you to make contact with him over the course of the colloquium. In addition to publishing a series of cutting-edge research-focused volumes on topical issues which draw on the research presented at the Academy's annual colloquium and special volumes derived from the Academy's workshops and symposia, EEP is interested in ideas for environmental law and policy monographs. Please visit the EEP display stand in Sala de Junes

The Academy colloquium traditionally accommodates side events in the form of Environmental Law Teaching and Research Workshops. This year is no exception with the Teaching Workshop taking place on the morning of June 30 and the Research Workshop the next morning on July 1. In addition to those events you are also invited to participate in one of many of the side events organized by various groups of scholars during the afternoon of June 30 and July 1.

The Academy welcomes the participation of graduate students in its panels and proceedings, and in particular to the annual Graduate Student Forum on Thursday, July 3 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Our good wishes for the completion of your studies, and please keep in touch.

For those of you who are not familiar with the Academy's eJournal, editors Elizabeth Kirk e.a.kirk@dundee.ac.uk and Amanda Kennedy amanda.kennedy@une.edu.au are at the colloquium and would be interested in discussing contributions to the very extensive country survey that is becoming a hallmark of the eJournal.

The closing ceremony will provide a further opportunity to express our thanks to other members of the colloquium organization committee. Here, however, it is most appropriate to acknowledge the warm welcome provided by our hosts in Tarragona, CEDAT and Universitat Rovira i Virgili. They have worked with diligence and with enthusiasm to make arrangements for a wonderful Programme.

On behalf of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law, its Chair, Professor Nilufer Oral, and the Governing Board, please enjoy the conference.

WELCOME MESSAGE FROM FACULTY OF LEGAL SCIENCES

We are really pleased to host the 12th edition of the Annual Colloquium of the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law. The presence of the most prominent researchers in the world in this field at the URV is an excellent opportunity to attend and contribute to the exchange and discussion of the most innovative contributions to Environmental Law. This is the basis of knowledge and the development of Legal Science, including Environmental Law.

You have reached an area where the chemical and energy industry coexists with the cultural and natural heritage. In this context, Environmental Law plays a fundamental role to ensure the preservation of the great natural diversity we treasure. This explains the reasons that led this Faculty to make a strong commitment to teach and research in the field of Environmental Law.

We were the first faculty in Spain to introduce a compulsory subject of Environmental Law within the curriculum of Law Degree, and to implement a complete itinerary of expertise on this subject within the degree itself thereafter. Meanwhile, we implement a range of graduate programs in environmental law and create a research centre specialized in this field. As a result of this strong commitment, the Universitat Rovira i Virgili, in collaboration with various institutions, founded in 2007 the "Alcalde Pere Lloret" Centre for Environmental Law in Tarragona which, among other activities, publishes the Catalan Journal of Environmental Law. So, as you may see, the Faculty of Law of the URV has in its founding DNA the knowledge, the dissemination and the development of Environmental Law.

You are most welcome to our faculty. I wish you a fruitful stay in Tarragona from both the scientific and the human perspective, and from today you know that the doors of our institution are always wide open to you all.

Dr. Alfonso González
Dean

WELCOME MESSAGE FROM CEDAT

The Faculty of Law of the Rovira i Virgili University has been teaching and carrying out research into environmental law since it was created in 1992.

The Alcalde Pere Lloret Tarragona Center for Environmental Law Studies (CEDAT), founded in 2007, is a project that involves the Tarragona Town Council and the Department of Public Law of the Rovira i Virgili University (URV) in the field of environmental law. The objectives of CEDAT are to generate and socialize knowledge in the field of environmental law and, in particular, in the world of local management and administration.

The Centre bears the name of Alcalde Pere Lloret for his double role as a leading jurist and mayor of Tarragona (from April 1931 to October 1934, and between February and May 1936), and in recognition of his defence of democratic principles and human values in the governance of the city of Tarragona.

The Rovira i Virgili University has gradually become a reference point in Catalonia and Spain for environmental law thanks to continual hard work and a desire to improve that is still very much a characteristic of the people who work there every day.

The experience and knowledge acquired over the years is available to society through teaching—every year there are new students on the master's programme—, through research that opens up new paths to knowledge in environmental law, and through transfer of knowledge, which provides solutions to practical problems that society needs to solve.

For CEDAT, holding in Tarragona the IUCN Academy of Environmental Law 2014 Colloquium is a grand award as well as an honour.
Thank you so much.

Enjoy the Colloquium!

Dr. Antoni Pigrau

Professor of Public International Law and International Relations
Director of CEDAT

GLOBAL NETWORK FOR THE STUDY OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE ENVIRONMENT SYMPOSIUM

PERSON IN CHARGE/COORDINATOR: ANNA GREAR (Cardiff University, UK) – LOUIS KOTZÉ (North West University, South Africa)

TITLE: GLOBAL NETWORK FOR THE STUDY OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE ENVIRONMENT SYMPOSIUM

DATE: Monday June 30th & Tuesday July 1st

PLACE: Room A309 (Building A)

TIME: 2.00pm – 7.00pm.

AIM: GNHRE Symposia are always intellectually dynamic, highly interactive and highly enjoyable. This year's theme is 'Reimagining 'humanity' in the nexus between human rights and the environment'. This theme invites engagement with the central question of 'who we think we are' as human beings and 'where we think we are' in terms of our understanding of the world we inhabit and which inhabits us. How might the relationship between human rights and the environment be reconfigured by renewed understandings and engagements with the question of who 'we' are? How do human and environmental rights construct and shape a vision of who 'we' are and in what kind of world? How does environmental law construct 'nature'? How do legal relations portray, fix or shape the relationship between 'humanity' and 'nature'? What laws, policies and practices would best embody new ways of being and seeing adequate to an energy-intensive world in climate crisis? The list of such questions is open-ended – and you are invited to explore the central Symposium theme as richly as you wish. There are four thematic areas in which abstracts are invited: Philosophical Re-Investigations; Reconfiguring the Legal; Activism and Praxis; Multi-level Reformulation. Simply submit an abstract – and indicate which thematic area you prefer to be 'located' in. All abstract very welcome, but places are limited – so act fast! You won't regret it!

IMPORTANCE OF ETHICS FOR INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY AND LAW

PERSON IN CHARGE/COORDINATOR: DONALD A. BROWN (Widener University, US) and KLAUS BOSSELMANN (University of Auckland, New Zealand)

TITLE: ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS IN ACTION

DATE: Monday June 30th

PLACE: Room A201 (Building A)

TIME: 2.00pm - 5.30pm

AIM: To explore and discuss the importance of ethics for international policy, law and governance. Two areas of practical application will be used to focus discussion; the Earth Charter and climate change ethics.

ESSENTIAL CONTENT: This side event will begin with an overview of the history and development of global ethics and international environmental law. The Earth Charter will be discussed and its role in contemporary issues will then be critically examined. The side event will then focus on the specific challenge of climate change. Climate change ethics will be discussed with an emphasis on how ethical issues can be made more explicit ensuring that they become integral to climate change responses.

Participants will be introduced to an exciting new research project that seeks to develop information and analysis that could be helpful in ensuring that nations take equity and justice seriously when making national commitments on climate change and when negotiating their international obligations. Parallels will be drawn with national performance monitoring in the field on international human rights.

All conference delegates are warmly invited to this side event. It will be of particular interest to delegates interested in participating in an international legal research collaboration.

WINE, LAW AND THE ENVIRONMENT

PERSON IN CHARGE/COORDINATOR: Maria Marquès (Universitat Rovira i Virgili, Spain) & Paul Martin (University of New England, Australia)

EVENT TITLE: Wine, Law and the Environment

DATE*: June 30, 17h

PLACE*: Room 202

DURATION SUGGESTED (3h max): 1h 30m

AIM: This side event aims to inform about the relationship between wine and the environment and provide the opportunity to get a perspective on how environmental teachers approach the world of wine.

ESSENTIAL CONTENT:

Speech 1: Prof. Dr. Fernando Zamora

Head of the Experimental Cellar, Enology Faculty, Universitat Rovira i Virgili, Spain

Member of the Committee on Enology, International Organisation of Vine and Wine (IOV)

How will Climate Change impact on vitiviniculture?

Climate change is nowadays an irrefutable reality which is affecting agriculture and especially viticulture. Springs rainless and summers extremely warm are increasingly frequent. Under these weather conditions, the grape flesh ripe faster reaching high sugar concentrations, low acidity and a high pH in less time. The period between veraison and industrial maturity is decreasing, making it difficult that grapes reach the correct aromatic and fenolic maturity. That is the main reason because wines, especially red wines, have increased continuously their ethanol content during last years. Face to this challenge, winemakers and grapegrowers need to develop new strategies to mitigate these problems. The present speech will develop all these aspects.

Speech 2: Prof. Dr. Paul Martin

Director, Australian Centre for Agriculture and Law

University of New England, Australia

Lawyers like to philosophise, and environmental lawyers often philosophise about the environment. Many environmental lawyers like to drink wine, and to talk about wine. Most environmental lawyers think that they are ethical. It is from these foundations that this light hearted talk about wine, the environment, law (and a touch of philosophy) will proceed to explore some (hopefully) interesting and generally unknown facts and fictions.

ENHANCING COOPERATION BETWEEN ENVIRONMENTAL LAW ELECTRONIC JOURNALS: A LONG WAY TO GO

PERSON IN CHARGE/COORDINATOR: MAR CAMPINS ERITJA (Universitat de Barcelona / (CEDAT) Universitat Rovira I Virgili)

TITLE: ENHANCING COOPERATION BETWEEN ENVIRONMENTAL LAW ELECTRONIC JOURNALS: A LONG WAY TO GO

DATE: 1 July

PLACE: Room A201 (Building A)

TIME: 4.00pm – 6.30pm

AIM: The aim of this side event is to address cooperation amongst environmental law electronic journals.

ESSENTIAL CONTENT: The question to answer is how organize environmental law e-journals' cooperation in a supportive way that will promote discussion on environmental legal issues and that will be of interest for researchers and academic authors? It is worth creating a network of environmental law e-journals? Some ideas to discuss are the following: Sharing some contents i.e. indexes, summaries and book reviews; publishing one special/integrative issue (or supplementary issue); publishing abridged versions or abstracts of outstanding articles; promoting best practices among researchers, authors, reviewers, and editors.
